DESTINATION... LOVE

You have been planning this day for what seems like a lifetime.

Will you be able to relive the defining moments of your special day through the images created by your wedding photographer?

A good wedding photographer must tell the wedding story that the bride imagined, but never saw; the hugs... the kisses... the favors that were fussed about for months; the friends at the back table... mom crying... the venue... the flowers; in short, a lifetime of dreams.

There is a sameness to all weddings. A good wedding photographer must understand that each story is different. Anyone can capture the surface detail. The challenge is to find the soul, spirit and unique DNA of each wedding.

My style has evolved over the years from one that was pretty much cookie-cutter to a style that incorporates the skills that I have honed in photojournalism, PR, corporate, editorial, and entertainment photography. Thankfully, most brides today are looking for something a little different. Possibly it's from Hollywood depictions of weddings where you visually get to experience all the emotions... tears... laughter... joy! If your destination is love, let me join you.
